I am very much concerned about the possibility that Microsoft continue its monopoly on the desktop operating system. It has been proven several times that Microsoft in fact have used its monopoly position to crush the competition. And that is precisely what the court has found: Microsoft broke the law. Now I am amazed U.S. government's leniency toward Microsoft. I want to make sure that you know I am utterly opposed to the US government position on this matter and call for more severe punishment against Microsoft.
